John Kaiser is the founder of Kaiser Research Online, a San Francisco based information portal for resource companies. John tracks sector trends and evaluates companies in the context of the "rational speculation model" he developed during his 30 year career as an analyst and independent newsletter writer. During the eighties and early nineties he worked as a research director for a Canadian brokerage firm before launching an independent newsletter, Kaiser Bottom-Fishing Report, that has since evolved into Kaiser Research Online. He is a frequent speaker at conferences and has developed in-depth knowledge about diamonds and critical metals such as rare earths.
